The Fox and the Fat Fowls

There was once a farmer who kept fat fowls. He and his family lived on a big farm. They also grew fresh fruit and fine flowers.

One night the farmer was furious. He found a furry fox trying to steal his fat fowls. Of course the fat fowls were very frightened. They flapped their wings and their feathers went flying.

The furry fox fled into the field of flowers and the farmer followed him. The farmer was fed up and shook his fist at the furry fox. He had to find a way to keep that furry fox away from his farm.

The next night the farmer and his family lit firecrackers to frighten the furry fox. The fat fowls were filled with fear. They were far more frightened than the furry fox. This plan failed and the farmer was even more fed up.

The farmer had a friend who could build fantastic, fierce frogs out of stone. They said, "We will fix that furry fox for good. We will find a way to keep that furry fox away from our fat fowls!"

First he built a firm fence around the fowl run. In front of the fence he built a fountain. The fountain filled the fishpond with water. The fishpond was full of fancy fish. Around the fence he built four fierce-looking frogs out of stone, to frighten the furry fox. At last the farmer's friend was finished with all his work. The farmer thanked him for his fine work.

That night the farmer and his friend waited at the fountain. The furry fox came quietly through the field of flowers, hoping to feast on the fat fowls. He saw the four fierce frogs, built out of stone, in front of the fence,

The furry fox was filled with fear. He let out a yell and fled back into the field of flowers. The frightened fox was never ever seen again near the farm.

From that day on the farmer's fat fowls felt very safe. The farmer's friend had done them a big favour. The fat fowls were no longer frightened. The four fierce frogs, built out of stone, made sure the furry fox stayed far away from the farm forever.

Little Lizzie Lizard

Little Lizzie was a lizard. She lived with all the other little lizards near the lake. Little Lizzie loved lying on a large log in the sun. She also liked to look at all the lovely ladybirds landing on the leaves. Little Lizzie wondered what the lovely ladybirds ate for lunch.

One day while Little Lizzie was lying lazily on her large log, she heard a loud noise. Little Lizzie looked all around. She saw a lorry driver loading a large lorry with large logs. The lorry driver lifted Little Lizzie's large log and lowered it into the large lorry. It was too late for Lizzie to leap off the log. The lorry driver finished loading the large logs and left the lake.

Little Lizzie felt very lonely and lost in the large lorry. She longed to be back at the lake with all the other lizards. She was sure they were all missing her.

The lorry driver turned left into the long lane. Quick as lightning Little Lizzie leapt from the large lorry. She landed on a lawn where she lay for a long while. She looked all around her and listened very carefully.

She heard a lady laughing happily. The lady was leading a little lamb on a leather leash. Little Lizzie heard the lady say to the lamb,"Lambchop, let us go to the lake and look at the little lizards." Little Lizzie could not believe her luck. She rolled over and shook her little legs. Then she leapt up to follow them.

She followed the lady and her little lamb called Lambchop all the way to the lake. Little Lizzie was so happy to be going back to her large log by the lake. She longed to be with her little lizard friends again.

At last Little Lizzie saw all the other lizards. She laughed out loud. She was no longer lost and lonely. She was back at the lake where she belonged.

All the other lizards loved listening to Little Lizzie's story. Their favourite part was where Little Lizzie leapt from the large lorry. They said how lucky Little Lizzie was to be led back to the lake by the lady and her little lamb called Lambchop.

All the lizards learnt a lesson that day. Now, when they hear a large lorry, they hide under the large logs until all the logs have been loaded onto the lorry.
